

What The Fuck

First of all, I am sorry for calling this a Whitepaper. It's more like a brochure.

This is a project proposal for a general problem solving platform running on a blockchain. And I don't want to waste anyone's time so let's just scroll to the next page and then the other one.

The name of the actual platform may change to something nicer.

What the fuck...

Why are children still being forced to waste their life in a schooling system made to produce obedient workers for the industrial age?!

Children today are not being prepared for the future. Their lifetime is wasted and we want to change that... Learn more

What the fuck...

Nobody is doing anything about this thing. I wil die trying to change that!

It's been too long. I understand that status quo may be the way to go for a long time, but yeah, not anymore! Learn more

In the very unlikely event that the WTF token sale raises more than 1000 ETH, I am committed to donate a part of the funds to a foundation that would develop a platform for presenting problems and solutions where users can pledge cryptocurrency on solving the presented problems.

The problem solvers present their work and if the majority of people supporting a solution through pledged cryptocurrency agrees that the solution has been delivered, the problem solver receives the donations and the donors are happy that the world is a better place.
